Finishing Options for Your Portraits

Ready for Framing

The photograph is presented and delivered in a standard photographic paper finish. Our standard printing material is a Luster surface photographic paper that delivers excellent detail and color while minimizing reflections and maximizing durability. This paper surface is ready for you to frame on your own or at the frame retailer of your choice.

Framed Prints

Dry mounting and protective coatings are included when you purchase the framed print option. This is a recommended step in preserving your portrait and preparing it for display. Our protective coatings are either a smooth liquid coating or a lightly textured laminate. Each one provides a water-resistant shield from environmental irritants including ultraviolet light which causes colors to fade with time. A protective coating will add many years to the life of your portrait and allows us to frame your print without the need for glass. A classic black frame is the usual choice, however other options are available.

Gallery Wrap Canvas

Gallery Wrap Canvas Mounting bonds your print onto a textured artists canvas and give a photograph a very painterly appearance. Gallery wrapped prints are stretched over a wooden frame and the image is wrapped around the outside of the frame. A gallery wrapped print included a protective coating. A gallery wrapped print can be displayed beautifully with no need from additional framing, however you can also add a frame (NOT INCLUDED) to further enhance your artwork and your home décor.
